Full job description

Description:

EPCVIP is a technology company specializing in lead generation within the Financial Services Industry. Our expertise in PPC traffic, search engine, display and email marketing has propelled us to the forefront of the lead generation industry. We have developed a customizable optimization platform, allowing us to yield the highest EPCs in the industry. The key to our success is attributed to our talented employees and superior proprietary technology.

We are looking for a Junior Data Analyst to support the Revenue teams by monitoring the daily performance of marketing and revenue campaigns. This role is responsible for ensuring data accuracy, identifying trends, and recommending optimizations to improve campaign ROI and overall revenue performance. The analyst will also assist with ad hoc reporting and insights requests across cross-functional teams.

Responsibilities:

- Monitor daily campaign performance metrics across platforms and identify areas requiring adjustments or optimization.
- Collaborate with Revenue and Marketing teams to ensure campaign targets and KPIs are met.
- Create and maintain performance dashboards and reports using Excel or Amazon QuickSight.
- Perform ad hoc data analysis to support revenue strategy and operational initiatives.
- Ensure data integrity, consistency, and accuracy across campaign and financial reporting systems.
- Communicate key insights and performance updates to stakeholders in a clear, actionable format

Requirements:

Education: Bachelor's degree in Business, Marketing, Statistics, Data Analytics, or a related field.

Experience: 1–2 years of experience in data analytics, digital marketing, or a related field preferred.

Skills:

- Proficiency in Excel (pivot tables, lookups, data cleaning).
- Experience with Tableau or QuickSight is a strong plus.

Apply with Indeed

- Attention to detail and accuracy in reporting.

Certifications: Not required, but Google Analytics, SQL, or data visualization certifications are a plus.
